

“Wow,” said Clarissa as she looked out the other side of the mirror. She looked around trying to figure out where she was standing. Wherever she was, she knew she was far from home.

As she stepped through the mirror, she noticed that she wasn't wearing her pajamas anymore, but she was dressed just like Little Girl Wonder. When she looked around, she got very excited!

She saw bright blue skies, puffy white clouds and colorful fields of tall green trees bursting with oranges, apples and even pineapples. Everything was tucked right under the shadow of the biggest, brightest rainbow she had ever seen.

At that moment she knew it! She was in Sunny Valley, where Little Girl Wonder lived. She had read about Sunny Valley in her books before. But could it mean, could it really be, could SHE be Little Girl Wonder?

